RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS MONDAY TOWN DIVIDED INTO MANY DISTRICTS; MEMBERSHIPS ARE ONE DOLLAR EACH

Next Monday is Armistice Day, and on this day each year, the American Red Cross inaugurates the annual Roll Call, throughout the nation. In every town and city, among all communities and in every state, committees will go forth to invite all to unite in the work of the Red Cross and carry, at least, a single membership, the cost of which is one dollar. However gifts of any size are acceptable and contributions are invited. The Northfield Roll Call committee this year, headed by George W. Carr, is fully organized and the town has been divided into districts, which will be covered by assignments of members. Members of the committee are doing a patriotic service in undertaking their task and this year the Red Cross is in great need of funds, with which to meet the heavy demands which will come to them, especially with the needs caused by the enlistments of our men in the service of their country. Local citizens should have their dollar ready when the solicitor calls. Here are the districts of the town and the committee assignments:

Mrs. Genevieve Eastman, north of Wanamaker lake, East Northfield.

Mrs. Neva Barber, west side Main street, East Northfield.

Miss Helen Handy, east side Main street, East Northfield.

Mrs. William Marshall, Highland avenue, East Northfield.

Walter Waite, side streets off Highland avenue.

Mrs. Fred Huber, Winchester road and Ridge.

Roy Hatch, Birnam road, East Northfield.

Mrs. W. A. Shtatuck, Main street, central, and side streets.

The local publicity will be in charge of Mr. Hatch and Mrs. Carr will serve as secretary of the committee. All printing material for the campaign has arrived and the displays will soon be made in the local stores.

The annual dinner meeting of the Pioneer Valley association, that is engaged in nationally advertising the tourist, residential and industrial attractions in Franklin, Hampshire and Hampden counties, will be held Tuesday, Nov. 19 at the Hotel Northampton.

The 1604 members of the association, that include banks, utility companies, realtors, owners of shops and stores, farmers, professional men and women and others, and a number of special guests, will hear John W. Haigis of Greenfield, president of the association, make a two-year report. Mr. Haigis also will describe the plans of the association for 1941.

The nominating committee will report at this meeting on officers, including members of the executive committee, who will take office for the ensuing year. This committee includes Alfred H. Hastings of Springfield, Lewis N. Wiggins of Northampton and Silas Snow of Williamsburg. The executive committee is made up of 70 members from each city and town in the three counties.

The dinner will be a Dutch treat affair at $1.00 and anyone interested in hearing the program may attend either the dinner, that will begin at 6 o'clock or the business meeting, that will begin at 7:30. Reservations may be made at the Association headquarters, Northcutt Bank Bldg., Northampton, Telephone 1910.

Rev. A.N. Thompson, D.D. Passes Peacefully

Rev. Arthur N. Thompson, D.D. passed away peacefully at his home on Main street last Friday afternoon. He had been confined to his room only a short time. He was born in Hudson, Ohio, March 20, 1855 where he spent his early life and attended the local schools. He attended and graduated from the Western Reserve University at Cleveland, and the Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati. He married Miss Clara Streeter of Ohio, May 11, 1882, who died Aug. 29, 1914. He has held pastorates in the Presbyterian church in the east and on the Pacific coast in Oregon and Washington and was a predominating force in the work of his denomination. In 1916 he retired and came to Northfield to reside. In 1920 he married Mrs. Clara S. Parks of Cleveland who died at their home here Aug. 11, 1939. In recent years they spent their winters in Coconut Grove in Florida, where they had a home. They were active in the Coral Gables Presbyterian church and its varied interests. He was a member of the S. A. R. and at one time a state chaplain. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Margaret T. Davis and Miss Isabella C. Thompson of this town and a grandson, Paul T. Davis a student at Rochester, N. Y. A memorial service will be held in the near future at the home on Main street to which friends will be invited.

Garden Club Members Visit Australia

After a short business meeting of the Garden club held at Alexander hall last Monday evening, presided over by Miss Anne Matton, president, Mrs. L. P. Goodspeed introduced her friend, Mrs. Lewis Sibley of Northampton, as the guest speaker of the evening, who recounted her experience of a residence in Australia, and showed movie pictures in color of many scenic places, of the cities, the country, its parks and zoo, and particularly of its flowers, plants and gardens. The large number of members, who attended the meeting were much interested in what Mrs. Sibley had to say. Mrs. Sibley, the former Grace Bailey, was at one time, supervisor of music in our public schools and many of her former pupils were present to greet her.

Accepts Pastorate Uniterian Church

At the parish meeting of the Uniterian church held Monday evening a call was extended to the Rev. Raymond H. Palmer of Boston and West Brattleboro to the pastorate of the church. Mr. Palmer has been teaching at Harvard and has a summer home at West Brattleboro. As we go to press a communication has been received from Mr. Palmer and he has accepted the call and will preach at the services on Sunday. Mr. Palmer has been the guest preacher for the last two Sundays.

Speaks At Hermon

Gaylord W. Douglass, of Springfield, New England secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War and a graduate of Mt. Hermon, 1896, addressed the students and faculty of the school at the noon assembly Wednesday on "Three Musts for a Secure Future World." At the beginning of his talk he referred to the need for a united nation at the present moment and a vital need, after the elections, in order to meet the hostility abroad. He said that the first MUST is that of world-mindedness. Our country cannot live for itself alone; neither can any other. Therefore, in the future world, after peace has been declared, we must think of the kind of world we wish to have. Our country's future should tie up with the whole concept of the world, and not be isolated.

Second, we need to cultivate confidence and cooperation. Dictators operate, but democracies cooperate. That is the immediate task for today. Third, we need to formulate in our minds some ideas on association of nations. The early days of our country saw the need of developing the articles of confederation into our Constitution. Likewise, we must not despair because a League of Nations is not perfect, but must go on to something better.

Mrs. Conner Writes A Cheery Message To All Friends

Dear Northfield Press Readers: When returning from a sojourn in Palestine, I wanted every church worker to have the privilege of visiting that sacred country, that we might make our Christian religion more vital in our daily living. Today, as I am thinking of all the dear friends of Northfield, to whom I would send a personal greeting, I wish that each one might be privileged to take the same trip which I took from Northfield to Winter Park, Florida.

Leaving early October 16, going down to New Haven, I was joined by a friend who is a frequent visitor at our Northfield hotel, and a lover of our town. Together we started on the "Scenic Trip to Florida": the trip that leads thru the hills and mountains of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. Swinging from east to west and back east, we reached Washington just in time for the snow storm October 19. It came so suddenly, and was so heavy, that cars were able to travel only short distances at a time, for the driver must get out to push the snow from the windshield, whose wipers had become powerless. We commented on the irony of our situation: going south to experience the first real cold and snow of the season.

In Washington our just pride in our own country rose many degrees, and we realized anew the power of an ideal. From this lovely city of granite and white marble, on down to quaint interesting old Richmond, and then to Williamsburg: so well restored through the generosity of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Here the truth confronted us that we Northerners need much revision of our United States history, and just such a slant as a visit to Williamsburg can give. Old Jamestown and Yorktown took on new significance and crossing "Hampton Road" on a ferry with a most interesting captain ancient history became alive. Across to Portsmouth, Va., we went to carry Northfield's greetings to Mrs. Jennie and Miss Margaret Foreman, who still live in Northfield thru hallowed memories.

Again from East to West we drove across Virginia and entered that "Skyland Drive" still being built. In all my travels, never have I seen anything so marvelously glorious as that drive in its autumnal splendor. For five days we drove over this winding trail: mountains in front of us, mountains in back of us, mountains to the sides of us, all lending their grandeur to this marvelous autumnal panorama. Asheville, N. C. with its mountains, its "Grove Park Inn" a creation of grandeur among those mountains: the Biltmore estate with its palace of art collected from every corner of the earth: its largest registered Jersey herd of cattle in the world whose milk is so managed as to yield a gross profit of one million dollars annually.

At last the trip left the mountains and the far view of the flat country of Georgia was welcome, as the many days of winding and twisting thru the mountains had left the driver weary. Into Athens the sea of Georgia's University; on to Gainesville, where Florida has its state university for I drove alone, as my friend returned home from Asheville. No, not alone, for as one person after another was given a lift on his weary way, each one left something of human interest for me. One chap, only 16, whose father had gone crazy suddenly, was arranging to move the family of eight, twenty miles to the town where I picked him up, and where he and his mother would have work. One big negro, having but one leg, was grateful beyond words for a lift of 90 miles. Another Spanish war veteran had lost his all: home, wife, and son in the Florida flood 13 years ago. Discouraged and friendless, just a lift and a ride meant much to him. Thus the story of human life unfolds and is always emphatic.

A short side trip up into the mountains and we were at Crossmore, whose welfare, our own Mrs. Hoehn has so close at heart. Nearly one thousand poor white children are helped thru Crossmore in every way possible that limited funds will provide. Here boys and girls, many with no homes, are fed, housed, educated, trained for a citizenship of decency in these United States.

After driving for two weeks and one day "Orlando the Beautiful" welcomed me, and the hospitable comfy home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Goburn extended their fine spirit to me. How our tongues flew, as we read the Northfield Press and

Help Select State Bird And Name A Tree Your Ballot Will Count

In cooperation with the Massachusetts Audubon society, the State Forest and Park association is supporting a plan to have the general court petitioned to name a state bird and a state tree at the coming session. Massachusetts and Connecticut are the only states that have not named state birds and this state is one of seven that have not named their state tree. The public through their organizations, through the press and individually are invited to express their preference of the choice through a list prepared by tree and bird experts of the Arnold Arboretum, the Harvard Forest, the State Division of Forestry, and outstanding ornithologists. Here is the list of the five suggested birds: Barn Swallow, a graceful flyer, that devours insects and is a habitant of our barns and old houses; Bobolink, a cheerful black and white and buff that is frequently seen about our pasture lands; Chickadee, always welcomed throughout the state, to our feeding stations, a welcome animated little visitor; Song sparrow, a brilliant songster, a friendly chap, who nest near our homes; Wood duck, considered the most brilliantly colored duck in the world, a frequenter of our fresh water ponds. The list of the trees includes the American Elm, beautiful and popular and in the past planted throughout many of our towns; the Paper Birch, a northern hard wood, graceful in bark and foliage, and ornamental; Red Maple, first tree to blossom in the spring and most beautiful foliage in the fall, very ornamental; Red Oak, very desirable for street planting; a substantial shade tree; White Pine, used in reforestation and ornamental planting, very attractive throughout the year and already adopted by other states. We in Northfield ought to be interested to express ourselves in a selection from this list and to have a part in the final adoption and choice by the state. If you desire to assert yourself, fill out the ballot in this paper, sign your name and send to the editor of the Northfield Press, who will forward these expressions to the committee in charge.

Horace H. Martindale

Horace Hart Martindale, 86, a native of Gill, died at his home near Mt. Hermon campus Tuesday after a week's illness. He had been confined to a wheelchair for the past five years. He was the son of Cyrus W. Martindale and Clarissa Goodnow. In 1878 he was married to Harriet Paul Terwilliger of Ploomsburg, Pa. His early years were spent in Arkansas, and later he moved to Pennsylvania. For 30 years he had worked at Mt. Hermon school first as a gardener and then as a fireman in the power plant. He retired at the age of 70. He was a member of the Baptist church of Bernardston.

He is survived by four daughters and two sons. These are Mrs. Clara M. Morse of East Springfield, Mrs. Elsie M. True of Skowhegan, Me., Dr. Ann M. Pelsor of Wickford, R. I., Miss Bertha Martindale, with whom he made his home; Julian T. of West Springfield and Dr. Richard E. Martindale of Edgewood, R. I. There are 12 grandchildren. The funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mt. Hermon chapel.

talked of Northfield people, our friends, churches, and schools and the hope centering in the new president.

At last at Winter Park with which I am charmed. Its artistic homes on ever winding streets; forty-four lakes like dots of translucent loveliness all thru the city; the magnificent oaks from which hang festoons of the air plant; Rollins College which not only serves young men and women; but puts on also a fine program of lectures and musicals for adults all winter and spring. I am filled with anticipation of contacting these big minds and souls.

Yes, 'tis good to go on pilgrimages. I wish all the Northfield friends might feel the thrill I experience when I am awakened by the songs of birds, instead of the sound of the home furnace, working hard to overcome the cold of the north in November. May something come to me here which later I may share with you there.

Sincerely,
Mary Andrews Conner

Display Of The Flag Should Be Understood Here Is Simple Code

The flag of a liberty loving and free people should be displayed as often as possible. The flag of the United States of America is the national emblem of our citizens, and we ought to know much about it, of its creation, of its history, for what it represents, and just how it should be honored and properly displayed. Northfield citizens are patriotic, they are loyal and true, but on days when the flag should be much in evidence, only a few may be noted in proper display. This has been commented upon frequently at various times recently, and of those displayed, improper showing has been noted. In order that the public may be more fully informed of the flag code, and by request of members of the local American Legion and by members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Press quotes from the "code" adopted at a national conference. The flag was first authorized by Congress, June 14, 1777. Of red, white and blue, it is said the red is for valor, zeal and fervency; the white for hope, purity, cleanliness and conduct; the blue, reverence, loyalty, justice and truth. The stars are emblematic of the sovereign states. The flag should always be saluted with the right hand in the proper place, generally over the heart. The flag has seven red and six white horizontal stripes with a star for each state in the blue field, in the upper quarter near the staff. Let us note how it should be displayed. The flag is displayed only from sunrise to sunset, hoisted briskly and lowered slowly. In a procession it is on the marching right, except when with other flags display it is in the center and in front of the first line. In any group of flags, it is always on the right or forward in the center. When flung from a staff out of a window, the flag goes to the peak of the staff. When displayed over the center of the highway the blue field is always to the north or to the east, according to the direction of the street. When the flag is shown against a wall, the blue field is always to the observers left. When used on a platform, flat, the blue field is at the observers left. It should never be used for decoration or to cover a speakers table. When the flag is to be flown at half staff, it should be raised, first to the peak and then lowered to half staff, which is midway in the measurement of the pole. The flag should be free of all decorations and in mourning processions, black crepe attached to the spear head is used only with proper authority. In covering a casket, the blue field is at its head over the left shoulder, and should be removed before the casket is lowered. In a church, or at an assembly the flag is always at the right, and any other flag is at the left. When a flag has become too old to be of service, destroy it reverently, and do not allow any remnant of an unused flag to be "kicked" about. Some cautions may be added in the use of the flag. It is never dipped to any person or anything. Never show it with the "union" down, that is reserved as a signal of distress. Never permit, the flag to drag or touch the ground, whether on display in a hall or in carrying it. Do not place anything above the flag on the staff nor use any drapery. For decoration use bunting of red, white and blue. Never drape the flag over a vehicle or auto, use it always, large or miniature on a staff securely attached to some permanent fixture. Do not use the flag as a ceiling. Never use the flag as a costume or part of a costume and do not countenance its use on handkerchiefs, paper napkins or boxes. Never print upon the flag or use it in any way for advertising purposes. All public buildings, and schoolhouses should be provided with a staff for the proper display of the flag. The flag should also be displayed at all official public gatherings. Let's keep the flag flying high in Northfield, the emblem of liberty and freedom and of a united nation.

Re-elected President

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Americans went to the polls on Tuesday and throughout the nation declared their preferences. President Franklin D. Roosevelt has been returned to office by a large vote as already announced in the daily papers. Governor Saltonstall is re-elected Governor of this state. Now Americans in both political parties are proving that democracy will work and all are getting together in the upward march to prosperity and success.

Seminary Students Had An Election

Wendell L. Willkie may have lost the national election this week but Northfield seminary girls say that he has been elected president by an overwhelming majority. In a straw vote taken at the seminary last Monday the election returns were as follows: Wendell L. Willkie, 363; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 82; Norman Thomas, 13. Girls away from campus for the week-end filed absentee ballots. Only a few of the faculty voted in the seminary poll.

Last Saturday afternoon the girls held a political rally with four "Jeans" as the leading participants. Jean Ford of Stockbridge presided over the affair as Uncle Sam; Jeanne Maurer of New Haven, Ct., received a tremendous ovation as Wendell Willkie; Jean Lacey of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., impersonated President Roosevelt; and Jean Grime of Great Neck, L. I., acted as Norman Thomas. Each of the nominees delivered stirring campaign addresses and were cheered and booed with vigor by the student body.

Roosevelt was introduced by a girl impersonating Mayor La Guardia. Uncle Sam, himself, introduced Willkie. Willkie sentential was so strong that the Socialists and Democrats joined forces to combat it and the student knew long before the vote was taken on Monday that at the seminary, at least, Willkie won by a landslide.

On Wednesday morning, following the national election, many Willkie supporters at the seminary wore black dresses to breakfast.

Congregational Church

The Congregational church announces its services for next Sunday. Sunday school at 10, with classes and an invitation for all. Morning worship at 11 with Rev. Frank E. Dunn of Mt. Colton the Women's Bible class with Mrs. Geibel will meet. Thursday at 7:15 the mid-week prayer service in charge of George W. Carr. Choir rehearsal at 8. The Women's Missionary society will meet at the church Thursday in an all-day sewing meeting.

How This Town Voted At Tuesdays Election Procedure Orderly

Over 90 per cent of our voters turned out on Tuesday to cast their ballots in the election of the candidates for state and national offices. All day long from 10 o'clock in the morning to 8 at night a steady stream of citizens filed into town hall to make their choice and register their decision. The total number of voters checked were 913 with 46 absentee ballots, or a total of 959 out of a possible registration of 1063. The recorded vote is as follows:

For president and vice-president (Willkie and McNary) Republican 728, (Roosevelt and Wallace) Democratic 202, Socialist Party 13, Prohibition 4, Socialist Labor Party 1.

For governor, Saltonstall, Rep. 759; Dever, Dem. 171. Lieut.-Gov., Cahill, Rep. 744; Gallagher, Dem. 157.

Secretary, Cook, Rep. 774; Foley, Dem. 139.

Treasurer, Hurley, Rep. 744; Donahue, Dem. 155.

Auditor, Wood, Rep. 731; Buckley, Dem. 156.

Atty-General, Bushnell, Rep. 743; Brennan, Dem. 157.

U. S. Senator, Parkman, Rep. 692; Walsh, Dem. 227.

Congressman, Treadway, Rep. 743; Akey, Dem. 184.

Councillor, Hastings, Rep. 742; Walsh, Dem. 158.

State Senator, Gunn, Rep. 768; Rogoleski, Dem. 147.

Representative, Dole, Rep. 830. Clerk of courts, Adams, Rep. 811.

Registrar of Deeds, Allen, Rep. 818.

County commissioners, Allen, Rep. 729 and Burnham, Rep. 660.

On the license questions, the vote on No. 1 was yes 200, no 551; on question 2, yes 208, no 535; on question 3, yes 221, no 529.

The town clerk, Mrs. Josephine Haskell, in charge with the election officials handled the local details in a very efficient manner. Members of the Republican town committee checked their lists and aided in bringing out a large Republican vote.

Dutch Elm Disease Less Serious Here

Whatever may have been said regarding the seriousness of the Dutch elm disease, and the ravages already made, it is apparent now that the disease has been halted and its spread prevented. Reports coming in from the largely infected areas state that the disease is disappearing. The Dutch elm disease is a fungus malady that has destroyed practically all the elm trees in Europe and was brought to the United States after 1925 on burl elm logs imported from Europe by cabinet makers in the middle west. It is carried from tree to tree by insects, especially the elm bark beetle, which lays its eggs in the shallow grooves of the bark. The devastation of the elm was feared in Northfield, because of its close approach from Connecticut and New York states, but now we can count with assurance that our elms, so beautiful along our highways, may still be preserved for years to come.

Here's the inside story of A GREAT NEW FORD RIDE!

When you try a new Ford, you'll find something very much more than just an improved ride. You'll find an entirely new Ford ride! A soft, level, gentle ride ... front seat or rear ... that's one of 1941's most talked-about developments.

Here are some highlights on how this new ride was achieved. Never before in Ford history ... perhaps never before in any one new car ... have so many major new developments been applied at once to riding comfort in a new car.

INCREASED WHEELBASE and springbase in the '41 Ford car provide the basis for a better, softer ride!

NEW SPRINGS both front and rear are softer in action, slower in what engineers call "vibration periods."

NEW BALANCE between front and rear spring action levels the ride — reduces "pitching" over bumps.

A NEW FRAME, 100% more rigid than before, cuts body-and-frame "weaving," increases comfort and quietness.

NEW SHOCK ABSORBERS permit softer adjustment front and rear than ever before.

A NEW STABILIZER perfected by Ford, makes it possible to use softer springs, more flexible shock absorbers and minimize sideways.

MASSIVE NEW BODIES on '41 Fords have up to 7" greater seating width, bigger windows, doors and windshields, greatly increased rubber cushioning.

Prices start as low as $760.00 Completely equipped and delivered in NORTHFIELD

"WINDOW CONDITION" YOUR HOME.. WITH DOUBLE-GLASS INSULATION

INSULATION
WHERE IT
saves you most

FUEL BILLS CUT
20 to 30%

• You apply modern winter windows or double-glazed mesh. Right then you cut fuel bills 20 to 30%. Reliable tests prove that "Window Conditioning" effects greater savings than any other single form of house insulation.

With "Window Conditioning"—double-glass insulation—a wall of captive air is formed between two panes of glass. This air space insulates the entire glass area—checks heat loss and drafts. You can have healthful humidity without the nuisance of foggy windows, soiled draperies and moisture which damages woodwork and furniture. You—can save cleaner's bills and doctor's bills, too. "Window Conditioning" is an investment that can pay for itself in less than two winters. Dividends continue year after year.

For your complete satisfaction, we use L-O-F Quality Window Glass which is noted for its greater freedom from waviness and distortion and is especially suited to "Window Conditioning." Each pane carries the L-O-F Label of Quality.

An estimate will convince you of the low cost of "Window Conditioning." Financing can be arranged under F.H.A. with no down payment. Call us or come in today.
